Seed Descriptions

- No Mess Blend – A high-quality, no-waste mix without shells. Contains 65% medium sunflower chips, 15% diced shelled peanuts and 10% hulled white millet. Will attract most winter feeder birds including nuthatches, woodpeckers, cardinals, juncos, white throat sparrows and titmice.
- Choice Blend – A combination of high-oil content seeds with shells. 50% black oil sunflower, 22% sunflower chips, 15% shelled peanuts, 8% safflower and 5% striped sunflower attract a variety of birds, including chickadees, woodpeckers, titmice, nuthatches and jays.
- Black Oil Sunflower – A favorite of almost all seed-eating birds, your feathered friends will happily fill up on this high fat seed.
- Shelled Sunflower (medium) – Sunflower seed kernels and pieces. No shells, no waste. An excellent feed. Everyone loves this.
- Safflower Seed – The cardinal’s choice! Glossy white seeds are the favorite food of cardinals. Also eaten by chickadees, finches, and doves. Ignored by squirrels, starlings, and blackbirds. An excellent seed for year-round feeding.
- Finch Blend: It's full of finches' favorite foods, 50% Nyjer and 50% fine sunflower chips. Watch your goldfinches swarm your finch feeder!
- Nyjer (Thistle) Seed – Tiny black seeds for goldfinches and pine siskins. Nyjer must be placed in a special feeder with tiny holes. Nyjer is ignored by squirrels and starlings. Use your nyjer feeder year round.
- Cracked Corn – Add to seed mixes or spread on ground. Attractive to blackbirds, doves, and waterfowl.
- Peanut Splits – Peanuts are the best single source of protein and fat for your birds and a great addition to the choices you offer in your yard. Woodpeckers, nuthatches, tufted titmice and chickadees love this!
- Seed/Suet Cakes – Each 12-oz cake fits in a wire suet cage. High protein and fat content with no waste, no fillers and real fruit! Woodpeckers love suet and so do other birds!
- Bark Butter - a spreadable suet that can be easily smeared on tree bark, wooden railings or a special feeder. Brown creepers and woodpeckers love this. In fact, 140 species of birds have been documented enjoying Bark Butter.
