

Huntington-Oyster Bay Audubon Society

January 2020 Program

I Know You Know That I am not Telling The Truth: Avian Mimicry

Wednesday, January 9 - 7PM

Cold Spring Harbor Library - 95 Shore Rd. Cold Spring Harbor

They say imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, and we'll delve into the ways of mockingbirds, lyrebirds, cuckoos, and explore some of the many ways that birds imitate one another - and some inanimate objects.

Coby Klein recently completed his doctoral dissertation at the CUNY Graduate Center. He leads field trips for HOBAS and has served on the board of directors since 2014. In his spare time Coby enjoys photographing insects and watching the Giants find new ways to humiliate themselves every Sunday. He currently teaches ecology at Baruch College.

This event is free and open to the public

7pm refreshments • 7:30 program